Home is the one place in all this world where hearts are sure of each other. It is the place of confidence. It is the place where we tear off that mask of guarded and suspicious coldness which the world forces us to wear in self-defense, and where we pour out the unreserved communications of full and confiding hearts. It is the spot where expressions of tenderness gush out without any sensation of awkwardness and without any dread of ridicule.

—Frederick W. Robertson (1816-1853), English reformer and minister

A house is made of walls and beams;
a home is built with love and dreams.

—Unknown

None but a mule denies his family.

—Moroccan proverb

The happiest moments of my life have been the few which I have passed at home in the bosom of my family.

—Thomas Jefferson

Make two homes for thyself, my daughter. One actual home... and the other a spiritual home which thou are to carry with thee always.

—Catherine of Sienna

The only rock I know that stays steady, the only institution I know that works, is the family.

—Lee Iacocca

Family quarrels have a total bitterness unmatched by others. Yet it sometimes happens that they also have a kind of tang, a pleasantness beneath the unpleasantness, based on the tacit understanding that this is not for keeps; that any limb you climb out on will still be there later for you to climb back.

—Mignon McLaughlin

Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble there's no place like home!

—John Howard Payne

Feelings of worth can flourish only in an atmosphere where individual differences are appreciated, mistakes are tolerated, communication is open, and rules are flexible --the kind of atmosphere that is found in a nurturing family.

—Virginia Satir

Out of the dreariness,
Into its cheeriness,
Come we in weariness,
Home.

—Stephen Chalmers, author

Blessed be childhood, which brings down something of heaven into the midst of our rough earthliness.

—Henri Amiel

In every conceivable manner, the family is the link to our past, the bridge to our future.

—Alex Haley

Smile at each other, smile at your wife, smile at your husband, smile at your children, smile at each other - it doesn't matter who it is and that will help you to grow up in greater love for each other.

—Mother Teresa

At the end of your life, the only thing meaningful you will leave behind will be your family - so work the hardest at making it a success.

—Chris Widener
